Consumer demand for organic food has risen quickly over the past decade, triggered in part by the development and success of USDA's organic regulatory program and label. This rapid growth highlights challenges still to be overcome in the organic sector. As consumer demand for organic products has widened, organic retail sales have spread far beyond the "natural products" market niche in urban areas and college towns and into big-box stores across the country. The 2008 Farm Act includes many new provisions to help domestic producers meet the challenges of organic agriculture and facilitate consumer access to organic food.
